GROOM DISTRICT

(170)

item 1

October 15, 1964 The Groom District has been engulfed in the Air Force Gunnery Range -- probably several years back. The Groom Mine, and perhaps other mines, plus the airstrip belonging to the Groom, are still ~~held~~ held as valid mining claims by one Dan Sheahan, but being within the restricted area, presumably call for security clearance to get in to visit them. I am quite certain that there is zero chance of being able to locate any further claims in the district; too bad, as it looked like a pretty fair shot for mineralization in an extensive pediment south of the Groom Mine outcrop area.

The district can be considered completely dead -- because of government withdrawal, not any other reason.
