DEVELOPMENT: Numerous bulldozer trenches approximately 15-20 years old. Old caved adit from 1800'sACTIVITY AT TIME OF EXAMINATION: None.

GEOLOGY: Several quartz veins in rhyolite porphyry of Koipato Group approximately N30-40E strike, dip high-angles. Numerous trenches cross-cut veins. Trenches were evidently put in to find source of vein float. Veins largely bull quartz some brown carbonate. Rhyolite porphyry is sericitized and contains oxidized pyrite, but this alteration appears pervasive and not related to veins. Quartz contains sparse galena in bands. Veins vary from few cm to approximately one meter in width.
