Two very strong structures, both solid quartz veins could be traced for 4500 feet on the strike. Widths varied from 1 to 10 feet; average width of 3 feet. The trend of the veins suggested some connection with the Nivlock to the southwest.

Encouraging assay values were limited to the general area of leasing and were not continuous with the 4500 feet of trend. Because of the limited tonnage possibilities the property was rejected.
